

GroundFlights begins formal operations in Central Florida Signs first client: Tel-Tron Technologies

Orlando, FL, September 22, 2011: GroundFlights has officially launched their exclusive and innovative ground transportation service in Central Florida. Their fleet currently consists of their specially designed and technologically advanced Lincoln Navigator Mobile Executive Offices.

These MEOs, as they are referred to, provide the productivity, comfort, flexibility and attentiveness of a private jet at a fraction of the cost. GroundFlights is an alternative mode of business travel within the state of Florida for those who typically use commercial air or personal/company vehicles to reach cities around the state for meetings, events, and other business-focused matters.

It was the promise of the benefits of being able to recapture the massive amounts of lost productivity typically experienced with conventional business travel that made GroundFlights an easy decision for Tel-Tron Technologies. Tel-Tron, located in Daytona Beach, Florida, is a leading manufacturer of technology solutions for senior living communities and regularly travels throughout the state to visit new prospective clients, to strengthen relationships with existing clients and for technical service installations and upgrades.

Brian Dawson, President and CEO of Tel-Tron said, "The decision to use GroundFlights was a no-brainer. Our growth depends on business travel to prospect and customer sites, but that does not mean we can afford an entire day of lost productivity while doing so. GroundFlights Mobile Executive Offices offer my staff comfortable surroundings, technology to stay connected and productive, and at a price point that makes sense for our business".

Says Malcolm Graham, Vice President at Tel-Tron, after a recent GroundFlight, "I basically doubled my productivity", going on to say that the best part of his GroundFlight experience was, "Being productive while I would have otherwise been driving. I visited four customer sites and was effectively 'in the office' all day."

For Immediate Release

About GroundFlights

GroundFlights is Your Premier Source for Executive Transportation and Maximized Productivity.

When traveling throughout the state of Florida, utilize GroundFlights on-demand, door-to-door Mobile Executive Office (MEO) service. Our MEOs are specially constructed and technologically advanced Lincoln Navigator SUVs (and coming soon, Mercedes-Benz Sprinter Vans) with all of the amenities expected of an executive office suite and driven by a trained and certified GroundPilot.

At GroundFlights, our goals are to alleviate your stress and maximize your productivity while you are traveling on business. Our services provide business travelers the freedom and control to travel in a way never seen before. We provide the comfort, attentiveness, safety and exclusivity of a private jet at a fraction of the cost.

If you are traveling 5 hours or less or 300 miles or less (each way) within the state of Florida, we can get you to your destination faster, and often times cheaper, while keeping you fully connected and productive and alleviating the stresses normally associated with business travel.

For more information, contact Thomas Duffy of GroundFlights, Inc. at 407.809.4500 or thomas@GroundFlights.com.

About Tel-Tron

Tel-Tron Technologies Corporation, a technology leader in the business of aging, helps senior living operators run a better business by improving resident lifestyle, optimizing staff performance, and lowering operating costs.

By blending next-generation emergency call system and communications technologies with specialty expertise, Tel-Tron enables senior living companies to achieve the outcomes that are critical to their success, and provide peace of mind for their residents and their residents' families.

Tel-Tron's website is <http://www.tel-tron.com>.

